After showing children some funny images of people standing in front of mirrors in fun houses that make you look taller or shorter, etc., then have fun with these drama games.

How to play:

- get the children to find a partner
- each pair decides who will be the leader and who will be the follower for their pair
- in the first activity, the leader creates her actions and the follower 'magnifies' them and makes them huge in however way they imagine actions could be bigger
- for the next 'activity, tell the follower not to reverse right and left, so no symmetry here
- the follower and leader don't need to stop at the 'mirror surface'. They can swap places and move around each other.
